Free Outdoor Concert Sunday with Kings of Swing

GADSDEN, AL: The Hardin Center invites everyone for a free outdoor concert with the Kings of Swing this Sunday, October 25. The concert takes place on the lawn of the Gunn-Bellenger House (872 Chestnut Street downtown) from 3-5 pm.

Coolers, lawn chairs, and blankets are welcome. Masks are required and everyone is asked to utilize the large space to stay at a safe social distance from members of other households.

The Kings of Swing is a local band that plays big band, jazz, swing, and standards. They rehearse weekly and provide this free concert in partnership with the Hardin Center each year.

“While we’ve had to cancel most of our events for the year due to the pandemic, we’re very excited to offer this free opportunity to the public in a safe outdoor space,” said Hardin Center executive director Tom Banks. “We’re looking forward to a beautiful fall day, so we hope folks come out and tap their toes to this wonderful music.”
